- Dower chest, dated "1827", (possibly PA), painted, dovetailed & tapered sides, fitted and carved cover, hand planed, iron hinges with hammered nails, box lock with key, two covered tills inside, turned feet. The exterior is decorated with painted hearts and highly stylized flowers on a blue field, the top is marked "1827", the front is marked "Jun Frun" and "B & D". On the interior the underside of the cover is decorated with a remarkable painting depicting a man on an ass confronting a sword wielding angel. The painted description appears to read, "Bileams asna later * 4 more B.22" (minus accent marks). We believe this refers to the Biblical scripture in which the controversial prophet Balaam, who betrayed Israel, is confronted by an angel of God. Later, in this well-known story, God speaks to Balaam through the talking donkey. The key to the chest is marked with the letter "A". The back of the chest is marked with the name "Kurt" and other indecipherable words. Provenance: Possibly once owned by renowned Harvard archeologist HL Movius, paper label inside reads "Property of Mrs HL Movius". The chest shows its age with paint w
